Reasons for decision

1. In making my decision I have had regard to:
  - the terms of your request;
  - the content of the documents;
  - the Public Service Act 1999 (PS Act);
  - the FOI Act; and
  - the FOI Guidelines issued by the Australian Information Commissioner.

Exemptions

Section 47C and 47E(d)– Documents subject to deliberative processes

2. Section 47C of the FOI Act conditionally exempts documents containing deliberative matter. Deliberative matter generally consists of matter in the nature of, or relating to:
  - an opinion, advice or recommendation that has been obtained, prepared or recorded; or
  - a consultation or deliberation that has taken place in the course of, or for the purposes of, the deliberative processes involved in the functions of an agency, Minister or the Commonwealth Government.
3. A deliberative process includes the recording or exchange of opinions, advice, recommendations, a collection of facts (including the pattern of facts or opinions considered) and interim decisions or deliberations.
4. I am satisfied that Documents 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 23 contain material which records the deliberative processes of the Remuneration Tribunal; specifically details of the Tribunal's interim decisions and opinions and documentation and recommendations prepared to support the Tribunal's operations by its Secretariat
5. The documents also contains advice, opinion, recommendation and analysis prepared for the purpose of requesting consideration of matters by the Remuneration Tribunal. The advice forms part of ongoing or iterative deliberations of Tribunal members. In OAIC IC review decision FOIREQ24/00423 (2024), the IC accepts that inter agency and intra agency advice is deliberative matter.
6. The Remuneration Tribunal has a range of statutory inquiry and reporting functions under the Remuneration Tribunal Act 1973 and the Parliamentary Business Resources Act 2017. It is essential for the Tribunal to be able to seek and receive frank and honest opinions on matters to inform its decision making, decisions of which are made public on the Tribunal's website, and the Federal Register of Legislation.
7. The documents contain materials that reveal deliberative content in respect to how the Tribunal reaches a decision, along with interim decisions of the Tribunal.
8. It is important that the Tribunal can request, and that individuals including Ministers, Departmental Secretaries and public office holders have the confidence to provide deliberative guidance, opinion and recommendations to enable the Tribunal to appropriately consider matters before them. To release the documents in full would, most likely, affect the quality of information provided to the Tribunal and impinge on its ability to undertake its statutory functions.

9. Further, premature disclosure of ongoing deliberations of the Tribunal has the potential to adversely impact its operations by exposing the Tribunal's Secretariat and members of the Tribunal to external pressure or lobbying which may disrupt the Tribunal's capacity to perform its statutory functions efficiently and independently.
10. Disclosure would be contrary to the public interest in preserving the integrity of the Tribunal's deliberative processes, ensuring that public servants can provide frank and candid advice without concern that preliminary views will be disclosed, and the effective and independent performance of the Tribunal's statutory functions.
11. For these reasons, I am of the view that Documents 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 23 contain deliberative matter and matters which go to the operations of the Tribunal, and those parts are therefore conditionally exempt under section 47C and 47E(d) of the FOI Act.

Section 47F – Personal privacy

12. Section 47F of the FOI Act provides that a document is conditionally exempt if it would involve the unreasonable disclosure of personal information about any person.
13. Personal information means information or an opinion about an identified individual, or an individual who is reasonably identifiable whether:
  - the information or opinion is true or not; and
  - the information or opinion is recorded in a material form or not.
14. I consider that Documents 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23 contains such matter; specifically, the names and contact information of non-SES APS employees as well as the contact information of SES APS employees, and personal contact information of Tribunal members.
15. I have had regard to the matters I must consider under subsection 47F(2) of the FOI Act in determining whether the disclosure of the personal information would involve the unreasonable disclosure of personal information.
16. In considering what is unreasonable, the Administrative Appeals Tribunal in Re Chandra and Minister for Immigration and Ethnic Affairs [1984] AATA 437 at [51] stated:

...whether a disclosure is 'unreasonable' requires... a consideration of all the circumstances, including the nature of the information that would be disclosed, the circumstances in which the information was obtained, the likelihood of the information being information that the person concerned would not wish to have disclosed without consent, and whether the information has any current relevance... and to weigh that interest in the balance against the public interest in protecting the personal privacy of a third party...
17. Other factors to be considered include the nature, age and current relevance of the information, any opposition to disclosure held by the person that the personal information relates to, and the circumstances of an agency's collection and use of the information ('FG' and National Archives of Australia [2015] AICmr 26 at [47]).
18. I note that in Warren; Chief Executive Officer, Services Australia and (Freedom of information) [2020] AATA 4557 (9 November 2020), Deputy President S A Forgie found (at [130]): An individual may include his or her direct telephone number in correspondence directed to other persons. Unless published on an agency's website or made public in some other way, such as on a pamphlet or report available to the public, I consider that disclosure of an individual's telephone number in his or her place of employment is unreasonable. Its disclosure will provide an avenue by which others may choose to express their displeasure with the individual or with that for which he or she is responsible but its disclosure does not make any positive contribution to increasing public participation in Government processes or in increasing scrutiny, discussion, comment and review of the Government's activities.

19. In relation to the question of whether disclosure would be unreasonable, the FOI Guidelines provide, at paragraph 6.144:

For example, in Colakovski v Australian Telecommunications Corp, Heerey J considered that '... if the information disclosure were of no demonstrable relevance to the affairs of government and was likely to do no more than excite or satisfy the curiosity of people about the person whose personal affairs were disclosed ... disclosure would be unreasonable'. This illustrates how the object of the FOI Act of promoting transparency in government processes and activities needs to be balanced with the purpose of s 47F to protect personal privacy, although care is needed to ensure that an FOI applicant is not expected to explain their reason for access to contrary to s 11(2).

20. I have identified the following factors that, in my view, do not support the release of this personal information under section 47F of the FOI Act:

- the individuals' personal information, in particular their name, will identify them;
- the personal information is unique and relates specifically to the individuals, and is generally not well known or publicly available; the FOI Act does not control or restrict the subsequent use or dissemination of information released under the FOI Act;
- the disclosure of this information will not advance scrutiny of any decisions falling within scope of your FOI request;
- the disclosure of this information could expose concerned individuals to unsolicited and inappropriate approaches by external parties;
- release of the individuals' personal information may cause stress for them or other detriment; and
- disclosure would prejudice the individuals' right to privacy.

21. I have therefore decided to the extent that 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23 includes personal information of Remuneration Tribunal members, non-SES level staff members, as well as contact information of SES level staff members and Remuneration Tribunal members, those parts are conditionally exempt from disclosure under section 47F of the FOI Act because disclosure would involve the unreasonable disclosure of their personal information.

Section 11A – Public interest test

22. Subsection 11A(5) of the FOI Act provides that an agency must give access to a document if it is conditionally exempt unless access to the document would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest.
23. I have considered the public interest exemption factors in favour of disclosure at subsection 11B(3) of the FOI Act, including the extent to which access to the documents would promote the objects of the FOI Act and inform debate on a matter of public importance.
24. I have identified the following factors as weighing against disclosure:
  - disclosure of individuals' personal information will not advance any scrutiny of any decisions falling within the scope of your FOI request;
  - disclosure would prejudice individuals' right to privacy;
  - disclosure could lead to unwarranted approaches to the individual which would adversely impact their ability to perform their role and functions, noting that general enquiry phone numbers and email addresses are available;
  - disclosure could reasonably be expected to harm the overall operational capacities of the Remuneration Tribunal in discharging its statutory obligations.
25. Subsection 11B(4) of the FOI Act lists factors that are irrelevant to determining whether access would be in the public interest. I have not considered these factors.
26. On balance, I find disclosure of all of Documents 10, 15, 16, 17, and 18 and some parts of Documents 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, 22 and 23 would be contrary to the public interest. To the extent that the material contained in these documents are conditionally exempt under sections 47C, 47E(d) and 47F, those parts are exempt from disclosure.

Hi Matthew

s47C

A senior office holder is defined in the PBR Regulations as:

senior office holder means:

- (a) the President of the Senate; or
- (b) the Speaker of the House of Representatives; or
- (c) a Minister; or
- (d) the Leader or Deputy Leader of the Opposition in a House of the Parliament.

Dependent children of a senior office holder receive additional family reunion travel to the standard 3 Australia wide fares per family and the monetary limit for travel to Canberra and within the local area.

See below PBR Reg provisions:

All senior office holders get 18, 19 is with the approval of the SMOS:

18 Fares for dependent children of certain senior office holders for family reunion purposes

- (1) For each financial year, 3 return fares are prescribed for each dependent child of a senior office holder (other than a Parliamentary Secretary) to travel between places in the office holder’s electorate and Canberra for family reunion purposes.
- (2) The fares may be used for travel by scheduled commercial transport at no higher than economy class.
- (3) If a return fare prescribed by this section is not required for particular travel, a one-way fare may be used.
- (4) For the purposes of this section, a one-way fare counts as half of a return fare.

Note: A fare prescribed by this section may be exchanged for travel with the senior office holder by unscheduled commercial transport: see section 20.

19 Additional travel for dependent children of certain senior office holders for family reunion purposes

- (1) The fares prescribed by this section are prescribed subject to the condition that the Minister approves the travel concerned as reasonably necessary for family reunion purposes.
- (2) For each financial year, for each dependent child of a senior office holder (other than a Parliamentary Secretary), fares for travel as follows are prescribed for family reunion purposes:
  - (a) one visit to any place in Australia;
  - (b) travel between the child's home base and Canberra to attend parliamentary functions attended by the senior office holder or the senior office holder's spouse;
  - (c) travel between the child's home base and Canberra when the senior office holder or the senior office holder's spouse is in Canberra for lengthy periods.
- (3) The travel must be by scheduled commercial transport and:
  - (a) if the child travels with the senior office holder, or the senior office holder's spouse—at no higher than the same class as the senior office holder or the senior office holder's spouse; or
  - (b) otherwise—at no higher than economy class.

Note: A fare prescribed by this section may be exchanged for travel with the senior office holder by unscheduled commercial transport: see section 20.

Travel for the spouse of a senior office holder is uncapped for a range of purposes, see below:

24 Travel as spouse of senior office holder

Travel to attend engagements

- (1) Transport costs are prescribed for the spouse of a senior office holder to attend an engagement if the spouse is invited (either with or without the senior office holder) to attend the engagement in the spouse's capacity as the spouse of a senior office holder.

Travel for family reunion purposes

- (2) Transport costs are prescribed for the spouse of a senior office holder to travel for family reunion purposes.

Travel as senior office holder's representative

- (3) Transport costs are prescribed for the spouse of a senior office holder for travel as mentioned in subsection 22(1) (travel as member's representative).

Type of travel

- (4) If the spouse travels with the senior office holder, the spouse may use the same method of transport as the senior office holder.
- (5) If the spouse does not travel with the senior office holder, the travel must be by:
  - (a) scheduled commercial transport; or
  - (b) taxi or other chartered transport car service; or
  - (c) Commonwealth transport in accordance with a Commonwealth transport determination.

The below limits apply to standard family reunion travel that everyone gets. The spouse of a senior office holder is used for the purposes of calculating family reunion travel to Canberra and within the local area, despite the fact this travel for them is uncapped. See highlight:

29 Limit on certain costs

- (1) The total of the costs that can be claimed by a member for a financial year under the following provisions is limited:
  - (a) section 16 (family reunion travel to Canberra and within local area);
  - (b) section 22 (travel as member's representative);
  - (c) section 27 (family member private vehicle allowance—travel to Canberra).

Note 1: Family member private vehicle allowance claimed in exchange for a fare under section 17 or 18 is not counted for the purposes of this section: see subsection 27(6).

Note 2: Transport costs for incidental travel prescribed by section 25 (incidental transport costs) are not counted for the purposes of this section.

Working out the limit

(2) The limit is the sum of the following:

- (a) the value of 9 business class return airfares for the member's spouse or nominee to travel from the spouse or nominee's home base airport to Canberra;
- (b) the value of 3 economy class return airfares for each dependent child of the member to travel from the child's home base airport to Canberra.

Note: The spouse of a senior office holder is included for the purposes of working out this limit.

- (3) If the home base for a spouse or nominee, or a dependent child, is within 150 km of Parliament House by road, the limit is to be calculated on the basis of return airfares from Sydney to Canberra.
- (4) The value of the airfares for a financial year is to be determined by IPEA based on the reasonable costs of airfares during the latter part of the previous financial year.

When limit is determined

- (5) The limit is to be determined by IPEA at the beginning of the financial year based on information provided by the member.
- (6) Once determined, the limit is fixed for the financial year, despite changes in the member's family circumstances during the year.

Note: If a person becomes a member during the year, the limit is pro-rated under section 53 of the Act.

Bowen says Turnbull-era travel expenses rules were changed to simplify them, despite criticism they became broader

Updated wording expands definition of 'party political duties' as Labor politicians come under scrutiny for spending

Cabinet minister Chris Bowen says Turnbull-era rules about travel expenses for politicians were changed by the Albanese government before the federal election to simplify them, despite criticism of the subsequent broad wording.

In announcing an overhaul of the home batteries subsidy scheme, Bowen was asked about reporting in the Daily Telegraph that the federal government quietly changed the rules to make it easier for politicians to claim taxpayer-funded flights and accommodation prior to the federal election.

The report said the special minister of state, Don Farrell, issued a determination on 12 February expanding the definition of “party political duties” as defined by the Turnbull government as formal meetings of political parties (including a meeting of the party executive, a committee or a subcommittee) and party conferences.

The updated wording in the Parliamentary Business Resources \(Parliamentary Business\) Determination 2025, updated earlier this year, now includes “developing policies, proposals and plans and engaging in related activities including when the policies, proposals and plans may be used by the member or a member’s political party or group in the context of a federal election”.

Bowen said the change was “simply a clarification of the rules to make them simpler” and the rules “do change from time to time”.

“There was no change to what is allowed or not allowed,” he said. “Those changes ... were made so that people are surer when they’re booking their travel as to whether it was covered or not.”

On Friday, Guardian Australia revealed Farrell charged taxpayers more than \$2,200 to travel to Canberra on the same weekend he attended a press gallery journalist's wedding, describing the reason for the trip as official duties.

Travel entitlements have come under intense scrutiny in this month after Nine newspapers reported that Anika Wells' family went on a skiing trip to Thredbo in June using taxpayer-funded family reunion entitlements while the minister was there for an official event.

Anthony Albanese defended his decision to sign off on a \$100,000 trip to New York City for Wells and two others to spruik Australia's social media ban to global leaders at the UN general assembly.

The attorney general, Michelle Rowland, confirmed this week that she had joined Wells in referring her travel expenses to an independent audit.

Bowen said the self-referral of two Labor ministers indicated "they are very comfortable in full scrutiny" but added their expense claims weren't an isolated incident.

"Let's not, with all due respect, pretend that Don Farrell, Anika Wells [and] Michelle Rowland are the only people who've used the family reunion benefit," he said.

"Of course taxpayers have high expectations as they should, as they must for the use of taxpayers money," he said. "And that's why the prime minister is getting some independent advice."

Asked whether the broad entitlements "seem fair" to taxpayers, Bowen said "staff work very hard" on both sides of parliament and it was part of the job to travel around the country.

"It's important that people have clarity with the rules and those rules were clarified and are being assessed by the watchdog," he said.

"That's a good thing. I think the prime minister has done the right thing to get that advice on family expenses.

"I understand why the rules say that with members of parliament travelling long distances and a long time away from their families, some form of family reunion support is appropriate."

After days of incorrectly suggesting the Independent Parliamentary Expenses Agency set the rules, the prime minister confirmed this week that he had asked the watchdog to provide advice on overhauling travel perks for MPs, opening the door to changes.

The government and the parliament are responsible for the laws and regulations which set the allowances, not the independent agency.

Farrell has been approached for comment.

Pressure on Albo to alter the rules

'Not set in stone': Chalmers

Jessica Wang

Anthony Albanese is under pressure to review guidelines for plush politician entitlements, three days after he told reporters "I'm not the Finance Minister. I haven't changed the rule".

A day later, the prime minister confirmed he had sought advice from the Independent Parliamentary Expenses Authority (IPEA) on travel entitlements.

The growing headache for Labor compounded after The Saturday Telegraph revealed Special Minister of the State Don Farrell, who has billed taxpayers more than $115,000 on family travel entitlements since 2022, quietly changed the rules before the election to make it easier for politicians to claim taxpayer-funded flights and accommodation.

While politicians previously could only attend "party political duties" for the purposes of formal meetings and party conferences, they now included activities which included spruiking election promises, developing policies, and participating in an event, activity or function.

Yesterday, Treasurer Jim Chalmers gave the government's strongest indication that it was open to review the changes, following an independent review from IPEA.

"Those rules are not set in stone; from time to time we seek advice on making sure that they meet community standards," he told Sky News. "That's what's happened on this occasion. We've sought that advice. When we get that advice, we will consider it."

The Coalition have capitalised on Mr Albanese's reluctance on reviewing the entitlements.

Acting Shadow Treasurer James Paterson said Mr Farrell's "last minute change ... blows apart the prime minister's excuse that these things are difficult to do ... and (that) they can only happen after independent advice has been received".

"Don Farrell made those changes, which were politically convenient for the Albanese government, and yes, also to the benefit of the opposition on the eve of an election, without, as far as I'm aware, any independent advice from IPEA when he did so," he said.

"He did so because he's a minister and ministers have the power to make these decisions."

The comments were made after fervent questioning on whether current rules met community expectations after high-profile ministers include Communications Minister Anika Wells, Health Minister Mark Butler, Attorney-General Michelle Rowland were found to have charged taxpayers thousands of dollars on family reunion entitlements.

Since 2022, MPs and senators of all stripes have racked up more than $4m in claims for spouses and children using the perk, which allows them to accompany a parliamentarian when they're working away from home.

Ms Wells' expense claims, which include thousands of dollars on flying her husband to major sporting events, continue to be reviewed by IPEA.

Dear Heather and Stephen,

I'm writing to ask about your availability to meet on either the 2nd, 5th or 6th of January to discuss MPs family reunion travel.

We are expecting a letter on the matter from the SMOS and Minister Gallagher will be received this week. The Secretariat will have a brief finalised shortly after receipt of the letter, but it's unlikely there will be sufficient time to consider the matter before the Christmas shut-down period.

Once we identify a day/time in early January that works for everybody, I'll send through a calendar invitation.

Kind regards,

22 DEC 2025

Dear Ms Kramer

The Albanese Government is committed to ensuring that the frameworks governing parliamentarians and the use of expenses remain suitable, appropriate, and in line with community expectations.

As you are aware, family reunion travel plays an important role in supporting elected representatives in their duties, particularly as the role of a parliamentarian has evolved into an around-the-clock occupation.

Importantly, mechanisms such as family reunion have underpinned the growing diversity of the Australian Parliament by facilitating previously under-represented cohorts of candidates, including parents – and especially mothers – of young children.

At the same time, it is essential that public faith is maintained, and that public money is used appropriately, and in line with community expectations.

To that end, the Prime Minister recently sought and received preliminary advice from the Independent Parliamentary Expenses Authority (IPEA) relating to patterns of expenditure and options for reform for consideration by the Government.

The following options raised below are informed by the preliminary advice requested and received.

Under the Parliamentary Business Resources Act 2017 (the Act), regulations dealing with domestic travel expenses may only be amended in accordance with recommendations from the Remuneration Tribunal.

Under s 35(2) of the Act, the relevant Minister may request the Tribunal inquire into and report on a matter in relation to which regulations could be made.

Accordingly, we request that the Tribunal inquire into and report to us on whether the Parliamentary Business Regulations could be amended so as to:

- provide that all family reunion travel must be booked at a class no higher than economy class, and or;
- limit family reunion travel to Canberra and within a parliamentarian's local area or electorate by removing access to Australia wide travel, and or;
- in relation to travel for the spouse or partner of a senior office holder, restrict travel to events where both of the following elements exist:
  - the spouse or partner has received an official invitation in their capacity as the senior office holder's spouse or partner, and
  - the events are connected to the senior office holder's portfolio, or parliamentary responsibilities.

For example: the spouse of a minister, whose ministerial responsibilities relate to the environment, could only travel for events relating to the environment, which the minister is also attending for parliamentary business.

It is the view of the Government that these changes would ensure greater alignment of family reunion travel with contemporary business activity and community expectations.

In considering the above, we also ask that the Tribunal ensure there is no undermining of provisions which support the travel of parliamentarians with young or dependent children, and those with single or sole parent responsibilities.

The Government is continuing to progress earlier recommendations from the Tribunal in relation to changing the definition of 'infant' to 'young children', increasing the age from 12 months to 6 years and disaggregating accompanying young children and carers travel from all other family reunion travel.

We ask that the Tribunal report to us at the earliest opportunity.

It is the view of the Government that any changes recommended by the Tribunal should be in place in the relevant Regulations before the resumption of Parliament in February 2026.

Yours sincerely

That the Tribunal notes the contents of this brief and agrees to:

1. Discuss the options provided at Attachment 1; and

Key issues

- Since 8 December 2025 there has been significant media coverage of parliamentarians' use of the family reunion travel provisions prescribed in the regulations.
- The Tribunal is responsible for determining domestic travel policy under the Parliamentary Business Resources Act 2017 (the PBR Act). In practice, the Tribunal makes recommendations to the Special Minister of State (SMOS) on amendments to the regulations, which the SMOS must implement.
- On 22 December 2025 the Tribunal received a request from Senator the Hon Don Farrell, the SMOS and Senator the Hon Katy Gallagher, the Minister for Finance, asking it to inquire into and report to them on whether the family reunion regulations could be amended (Attachment 2).
- The Ministers suggest a number of possible reforms, which are included in Attachment 1, along with options developed by the Secretariat.

- s47C

- The Tribunal has also received several representations from members of the public seeking review of the family reunion travel provisions. Two examples are provided at Attachment 3.
- s47C
[REDACTED]

Framework and principles

- In inquiring into the Ministers' request, the Secretariat considers the following points are pertinent:
  - The PBR framework is a principles-based system.
  - A key principle is that expenses claimed by parliamentarians must be for the dominant purpose of conducting parliamentary business.
  - The PBR framework includes public reporting, auditing and assurance elements. The Independent Parliamentary Expenses Authority (IPEA) has a proactive audit function which takes a risk-based approach. IPEA conducted several assurance reviews of family reunion travel in 2025.
  - Several reviews have recognised parliamentary life is not family-friendly, and that efforts must be made to attract and retain talented individuals from diverse backgrounds and stages of life.
  - Even in receiving the benefit of family reunion travel, the onus is on parliamentarians to ensure such travel meets the 3 elements of the definition of 'family reunion' for the purposes of the regulations:
    1. The member is travelling within Australia for the dominant purpose of conducting their parliamentary business,
    2. The family member travels to accompany or join the family member, and
    3. The travel by the family member is for the dominant purpose of facilitating the family life of the member's family.

Current state

- The regulations (see Attachment 4) prescribe a range of expenses for family members to travel within Australia, including for the purposes of family reunion:
  - Family members can access travel to Canberra and within a parliamentarian’s electorate up to an annual dollar limit (Regulation 16),
  - Family members have access to 3 Australia-wide trips per year (per family) and a total of 3 Australia-wide return fares for the dependent children of a member who is a single parent<sup>1</sup> (Regulation 17),
  - Each dependent child of a senior office holder<sup>2</sup> (except a Parliamentary Secretary/Assistant Minister) has access to an additional 3 return fares for travel between places in their electorate and Canberra (Regulation 18).
- Further fares are available for each dependent child of a senior office holder (except a Parliamentary Secretary/Assistant Minister), subject to the approval of the SMOS (Regulation 19). They are:
  - 1 visit to any place in Australia each year,
  - travel to Canberra to attend parliamentary functions, and
  - travel to Canberra if the office holder or their spouse is there for lengthy periods.
- Several regulations provide for spouse travel:
  - travel as a member’s representative to events which the member is unable to attend (Regulation 22),
  - travel as an official invitee to an official government, parliament or vice-regal function (Regulation 23),
  - travel as the spouse of a senior office holder to attend engagements, for family reunion and as the office holder’s representative (Regulation 24).
- Regulation 22 travel (travel as a member’s representative) is deducted from the same budget as travel to Canberra and within a parliamentarian’s electorate.
- Regulations 23 and 24 (travel as an official invitee, travel as the spouse of a senior office holder) are not subject to any limit.

Usage

- IPEA has provided data on several provisions (Attachment 5). Of note:
  - The use of Regulation 17 Australia-wide reunion travel by parliamentarians who are not senior office holders is reasonably low – only 15% of available trips were used in 2023-24, and 11% in 2024-25.
  - A high proportion of parliamentarians do not access Australia-wide trips – 76% did not use any in 2023-24, 87% did not use any in 2024-25. In those years only 6% (13) and 3.5% (8) of parliamentarians used all available trips.
  - The use of Regulation 16 Canberra reunion travel by parliamentarians who are not senior office holders is similarly low – 12% of the available budget was used in 2023-24, and 11% in 2024-25. Usage is tracking higher in the current financial year, with 9% of the budget already spent.
  - The number of flights used by the spouses of senior office holders (Regulation 24) was variable (142 in 2023-24, 246 in 2024-25, 83 this year to date).
